

Across all MER61E, does p53 half-site count increases with available sequence length?

